Hey everyone,
I just got some very important and life-altering news.

1. None of you are real, just "internet friends".
2. I don't have to think or worry anymore! There is someone who knows my entire life, and what I should be doing with it!

The story continues;

We were in a custody battle for 4 years, in and out of court. The judge kept ordering status hearings, due to the other party making false accusations about the child's health and needs. it was extremely costly. We went to mediation, nothing was accomplished as the other party refused to compromise on anything, I'm talking about no holiday time, no summer visitation, very little access and time with the child, the most ridiculous offers you could imagine. It took 4 years of that before a settlement was reached between attorneys emailing proposals back and forth, which was still costly. A friend recommended a group of highly secret servers for me, they deal with all legal papers works child custody/abuse/divorce support. and property management and can get into their cell phones to get you all deleted/non-deleted messages, call logs, videos, and social media messages from all drives without them noticing. you can contact them on their instagram "@Anthony_cyber_spy" Email:Anthonycyberspy@gmail.com

Sareh Dan It's sad how many iterations and variations there are to stories like these. This is an interesting idea, we will think about this.

It saddens me alot these narcissistics beings could be perfectly secretive and deceiving, my husband has been getting his co worker to himself and ever since I began to see his negative movements I questioned but he never agree to say anything about it...it was hard to get through but ended up being my best step to pick! I had to get through it my way because it's getting more complicated everyday and being fed up as much and also looking up to my kids positive growth... Yeah at least now I'm more free minded knowing what it really is! I've got to clone our mobiles and personal computes together which was a much better idea to deal with this ridiculous challenges.

Got the gadget's server merged together and unbelievable dirty hidden acts I discovered!

Engaging in n*de exchanges and all that. but he was never aware I was getting his Mobile merged to mine all along not until I was done then file to his face.

Now just to fix my family. It's really a tough moment with us right now as In case you are in a similar situation, you can contact the cyber expet on Facebook Jasper Pavel
